This is an illustrative example of the concepts being discussed. Markings are just visualizations on historical data in hindsight analysis
 I am busy with some other work and will not be trading for few days. I will try to post charts with hindsight analysis if I get time in the evening. Today I could see only two opportunities. A TST short at range high. I may not short BPB due to NS RN. I would have taken the last long. It did not move well

Okay, through following we can be aware of Barbed wire in making ?

1. Morning session intraday was sideways.
2. Quick reversal from 8485 above 8500 then 8500 holding.

BRN and RN are very prominent when Higher time frame traders and investors are in control
Big players defend option strikes and many funds act on index levels. like buy at 8300 sell at 8600 etc
